

Saint-Gobain Seals: Our COVID-19 (Coronavirus) Preparedness Response

We understand and appreciate your reaching out to learn more about the steps Saint-Gobain Seals and our global manufacturing plants are taking to protect our team members, customers, partners and communities during this unprecedented COVID-19 (coronavirus) pandemic. We have been closely monitoring updates and developments in real-time. As a company, Saint-Gobain has implemented policy updates to keep team members and our worldwide businesses safe while mitigating the risk of the further spread of coronavirus. It is of great importance to maintain business continuity across our enterprise and with those whom we partner and support.

Our businesses and plants have carefully prepared detailed business continuity plans that are being implemented to work logically and within the framework of sustainable business practices in order to create an environment which enables social distancing as well as the safest practices during this time to ensure we fulfill our commitments to customers. We have formed a special cross-functional committee that monitors the situation on a daily and even hourly basis and works to update policies based on the latest information. Specifically, the following are the actions we have taken:

Preparation & Implementation

- We are engaging all team members with regular communications and policy updates based on the latest data and guidance available via the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), www.cdc.gov, and the World Health Organization (WHO), www.who.int.
- As mandated by country and/or state, all international and domestic business travel has been banned and those who are returning from any type of travel must stay in self-quarantine for a period of at least 14 days. Although several of our businesses are still operating because of critical demand, the majority of our team members have been instructed to work at home and conduct work remotely in order to protect themselves, their families, our customers, partners and communities.
- We have implemented our business continuity plans and moved to rotational staffing in our plants wherever possible to ensure proper social distancing.

Supply Chain & Logistics

- Saint-Gobain Seals continues to maintain a healthy supply chain strategy with trusted sources to ensure we are able to continue fulfilling our commitments to our customers.
- We continue to utilize material safety stocks, where applicable, and monitor the support of our suppliers for any changes.
- We have implemented a number of protocols to ensure the fulfillment of customer orders, including transportation, and expedite the process whenever needed.

We are committed to keeping you advised of any additional changes, but please be assured that we are continually monitoring the situation and making updates to policies in order to keep our team members and those we work with as safe and protected as possible.

If you have any questions, we encourage you to reach out to our media contact or communications department: Rebecca Phan, rebecca.phan@saint-gobain.com, or sealsmarcom@saint-gobain.com

We appreciate your support and partnership. We are in this together and together, we will get through it!
